E. H. POLLARD, Esq.

The Scheme of a Local Bank for this Colony with Branches at the most important places in China, has been in contemplation for a very long period.

The local and foreign trade in Hongkong and at the open ports in China and Japan has increased so rapidly within the last few years that additional Banking facilities are felt to be required.

The Banks now in China being only branches of Corporations whose head quarters are in England or India, and which were formed chiefly with the view of carrying on exchange operations between those countries and China, are scarcely in a position to deal satisfactorily with the local trade which has become so much more extensive and varied than in former years.

This deficiency the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Company will supply, and will in fact assume the same position, with relation to this Colony as the Presidency Banks in India, or the Banks of Australia in their respective localities.

The Establishment of a Mint in Hongkong, providing an adequate supply of proper currency, will render a local Banking medium essential to carry out its operations, and the almost certain disappearance of the existing Compradoric system (so far as money is concerned) will also ensure, Banks becoming in course of time the exclusive medium for the transaction of the monetary operations connected with trade.

For the anticipated success of this enterprise there are therefore ample grounds; and the great prosperity which has attended the working of other local associations in China clearly shews that the largest profits are obtained by those Public Companies which possess an interested local body of Proprietors or Shareholders whose support naturally forms a chief element of remunerative success.

The Bank will commence operations simultaneously in Hongkong and Shanghai and as the importance of its business at the latter place must be very great, it is intended to establish a local Board of Directors there for more effectually meeting the work. As circumstances render it advisable the Bank will establish Branches at other places.

In the distribution of Shares Hongkong and Shanghai will equally participate. Shares will also be reserved for the other ports in China and Japan and for persons residing elsewhere, who are directly interested in the China Trade.

Applications for Shares must be addressed until further notice, to the Provisional Committee, care of Messrs. DENT & Co.

THE COMMERCIAL BANK OF INDIA.

THIS Company has been formed for the purpose of purchasing a site in the Colony of Hongkong for Docks and constructing Docks and erecting suitable Premises thereon for carrying on the Business of Building or Docking and Repairing Steamers and Sailing Vessels, and for the purchase of the Docks now owned and carried on at Whampoa by Messrs. T. HUNT & Co. with the Appurtenances Plant and Good-will of the Docking Business of that Firm.

It is proposed to register, the Company as one of Limited Liability either under the Imperial Act or under any Ordinance which the local Legislature may pass enabling local Companies to do so, the property of the Company in the meantime being vested in the Trustees, and the Deed of Settlement of the Company, now in course of preparation, is being framed in accordance with this intention.

The very considerable increase in the number of Vessels employed in what may be termed local trade, or in voyages that either originate or terminate at Hongkong, in addition to the great quantity of tonnage visiting the Port from all quarters of the World, afford ample scope for the remunerative operations of Dock Companies, in addition to those which are already in existence.

Application has been made to Her Majesty's Government with reference to obtaining a site for the proposed Docks in the Colony, and the project has been favourably entertained, steps being in progress to facilitate this object, the necessary preliminary investigations as to the suitable character of the proposed site having been conducted and satisfactorily reported upon, by Mr. S. B. RAWLING.

Liberal support has been promised to the undertaking which it is contemplated must necessarily prove a very remunerative one.

Further applications for Shares can till further notice be addressed to the Undersigned from whom forms of application and all particulars can be obtained.

Counsel for the Company.

Movement of British Troops.

We learn that Major General Guy, together with his staff, may be expected at Shanghai by the next mail. We are also informed that the second battalion of the 9th regiment left Gibraltar for this port on the 20th ult, by H.M.S. Tamar. The detachment of Beloochees which is at present in Yokohama will return in the Adventure, and the same ship will then convey the 67th regiment to Hongkong en route for the Cape. The detachment of the 20th Regt. which is now at Yokohama with also probably arrive at Shanghai in the course of three months.

We see from the Friend of China that Colonel Gordon has retired from the Mandarin service, and that he slunk home by the last mail. We were aware that he came down from Shanghai by the Cadiz, but we thought the object of his visit was to bid goodbye to General Brown—we had no idea that he had gone home. It is melancholy to see a gallant talented soldier make a wreck of his fame by degrading himself to the level of Mandarin mercenary. Colonel Gordon, our contemporary states, is very fond of giving out that he is a poor man. We suppose he possesses the peculiar characteristic which is so common at the North of the Tweed "of takin what they gi' him, and ganging on grumlin'." — It is incredible to suppose that a mercenary lender of troops whom he himself has denounced as lawless and ruffianly, should not only forego all that honor and glory which should sustain a soldier in the commission of human butchery, and which the stigma of mercenary must in any cause necessarily make him forego, but should at the same time sacrifice the only recompense which a mercenary has it in his power to enforce—namely pecuniary compensation. We say it is incredible, which means that we do not believe it. Colonel Gordon naturally lays the flattering unction to his soul that he has been carrying out the policy of his government. To a certain extent this may be twisted into the truth, but how about his reconciliation with the Footai? Did not his government so strongly disapprove of the act, that express orders were sent to General Brown to cause all foreigners to leave the Imperial military service, especially Colonel Gordon? Aye did they, and in the Blue book is it written!

And even then Colonel Gordon evaded the intention of his Government in thus evincing its disgust at the Futai's perfidy, by subsequently accepting the appointment of drill instructor General to the Mandarins.

Nor can it be urged in the Colonel's extenuation that it formed any portion of the policy of the British government to denounce his comrades in the shameful manner he did. Not at all—for all that he did to serve the British government, he has been well rewarded by promotion—and if for all that he did to serve the Mandarins, if he did not obtain the compensation he was entitled to for the vast benefits he conferred on his employers, he is the greatest goose for a mercenary that we ever heard of.

We further see from the Friend of China that a steam yacht called the Donnington was advertised to take a trip from Shanghai to Soochow, leaving on Saturday and returning on Monday. Parties having Consular passports are invited to go and are told that the steamer will stop occasionally to enable them to enjoy a little shooting.

We suppose that we may congratulate our readers upon the acquisition of gas. The advantages which will be derived from it use are too obvious and well known to render it necessary that we should say a word on the subject. As for the relative cost of gas and oil for lighting, we may be excused for making a few remarks.

The cost of gas, as fixed by the tariff of the Hongkong gas company, is $4.50 per thousand feet. A street lamp will burn three feet per hour, or say all the year round, thirty feet per night. As the folly of lighting lamps whilst the moon is shining brightly, will not be practised, each lamp will burn about eight hundred feet per month, and will therefore cost about $3.50 per month. The present miserable oil lamps cost about $2.50 per month.

To show the difference however between the cost of oil and of gas, we shall refer to the expense of lighting a theatre such as that which the Amateurs are so jealous of any one but themselves enjoying the use of. We believe that we are correct in stating that the building cannot be lighted by oil and candles under $15 per night. Fifty gas lamps would make the oil and candles appear like rushlights, and would cost $4.50!

Mr. Witty, the Superintending Engineer of these gas works, must certainly have had great difficulties to contend against. No one unacquainted with Hongkong can possibly realise the obstacles which have to be encountered in the undertaking of engineering works. The Chinese lack mechanical skill and are not worthy of any confidence. European artisans are not only difficult to manage occasionally, but suffer terribly from exposure. The construction of a gas manufacture, and the lighting of a town with gas, is an undertaking of considerable magnitude; nothing to be compared with it was ever undertaken in China before, and we have often heard it said that Mr Witty would find obstacles that he little dreamed of. It is very likely that he has done so, but certain it is that he has overcome them all, and that the colony is now actually reaping the benefits of his skill, tact and perseverance. It appears to us that he has performed his task in a masterly effective manner, and we who know something of the difficulties which must have beset his path, desire to record our appreciation of his handy work.

What surprises us the most is the small cost of what appears to us, such a gigantic affair. We understand that the entire sum spent up to this time will not exceed £45,000, including stock, plant, works, and everything whatever. This is a less sum than is often spent annually by the Surveyor General's department! Do reflect on this fact gentle reader! What in the world becomes of the money we never could imagine.

THE steamer Glengyle arrived from Shanghai yesterday bringing dates to the 30th Ulto. We take the following extracts from the columns of the North China Daily News.

The Spread of Rebellion.

Advices from the South continue to give serious accounts of the advance of the rebels into Chi-keang and Fohkein. In the former province they have taken the port of Wang-chow; and in the latter, business continues suspended at Amoy, in consequence of their occupation of Chang-chow. The city of Tong-san and the adjacent district are also said to have been taken.

The Mahometan insurrection in the North Western provinces has excited so much alarm that the Futai, Fantai and Criminal Commissioner of the province of Kuei-chou, named respectively Chang Liang-chi, Yu Ling and Ohen Ling (Manchous) have marched at the head of three enormous armies to oppose the advance of the rebels on the provincial city. The result has not yet become known.

We learn that the Mahometan rebels in the Shen-si province have migrated to Kan-su where they have re-captured Ku-yuan-chow, from which they were some time since driven. Lui Chenkuon, Commander in chief in the provinces of Shen-si and Kan-su has invested the city, and cut off supplies of every kind.

A Kiukiang correspondent informs us that the son of the Tien-wang has been taken prisoner, and is in the safe custody of the Kiangsi authorities, but well treated. The Tow-wang, alluded to in depositions of Conroy and Nellis as having been in command of the garrison at Hoochow, has also been taken.

Dissention in the Imperial Councils.

The greatest dissatisfaction is said to be felt amongst the high officials in the northern provinces with regard to the conduct of Tsêng Kuo-fan and Li Futai in disbanding the forces employed in Keangsoo, so soon as Nanking was captured. Sêng Wang (San-ko-lin-sin), stigmatises this course as one which proves that the policy adopted was merely selfish, and that neither Tsêng nor Li had the true interests of the country at heart. Had they thought of doing any real good, they would have looked around and taken into consideration the immense hordes which still devastate the provinces, and the ripeness for revolt which is everywhere manifested. To disband a well-disciplined army which was fully prepared for action in any part of the empire was thus an act of mere madness. As an example of the disturbed state of the provinces, the prince adduces the fact that at the present moment an alliance exists between three powerful officials, who are raising the standard of rebellion in the provinces of Honan and Shantung. These men are a son of Yuan Chinsan, late governor of Chih li, a son of Shên Pao, late privy councillor, and one Huang who was before a Nien fei leader, but was converted by San-ko-lin-sin, and now is relapsing into his evil courses. The Sêng Wang declares his anxiety to enquire personally into Tsêng's and Li's motives, and states that he is so convinced of the injury they have done, are now doing and will eventually do to the country that he would be willing to risk the Emperor's wrath and his own head were he only able to put them out of the way of bringing about further mischief. Such is the substance of what Sêng Wang's opinions are said to be. We presume that the honors and dignities which have been heaped on Tsêng and Li have given rise to serious jealousy on the part of the men who have been equally deserving but less fortunate.

Unprovoked Mandarin Outrage.

We have been furnished with a report of a brutal and apparently unprovoked outrage perpetrated by Chinese on two foreigners in the neighborhood of Chinkiang, which we trust will have the effect of inducing excursionists and business, travellers to take precautions against a repetition of the occurrence in their own cases. The facts are briefly as follows. During the night of the 18th instant Messrs. R. H. Baldwin (of Wignall & Co.) and Smith (of Dent & Co.) left Chinkiang in a boat, on a shooting excursion in the direction of Tan-yang. They took with them two muzzle-loading fowling pieces and one breech-loader, which were, it would seem, in cases, and not immediately available for use. About 2 o'clock on the following morning (Saturday, the 19th instant) both gentlemen were simultaneously awakened by a succession of shouts proceeding from a boat which had ranged up alongside, and which immediately commenced a vigorous attack on that occupied by the excursionists. Cold four-pound shot was being thrown by the attacking party, and by the time that Mr. Baldwin had succeeded in putting his breech-loader together and running on deck, the side of his boat had been completely stove in, and the boat itself driven on shore. The scene on deck was most alarming. A large boat full of Imperialist soldiers was alongside, and the crews were already struggling one with the other. As soon as Mr. Baldwin appeared, a cry arose of "Foreign devil, kill him, kill him," and a rush was made to get on board the boat in which he was. His gun, which was loaded and at full cock, was seized by one of the men on the other boat, and while endeavoring to recover it without injuring the man who held it, he was obliged to step on the guards of the attacking junk. This was the signal for a general attack on him, and after receiving several severe blows on his head, he was barely able to throw himself into his own boat, leaving his gun in the possession of the enemy. He now made an attempt to put his muzzle-loader together, but the blood which streamed from his head covered his hands, and prevented him from accomplishing his purpose. He was now called by his servant, who had been seized by the attacking party and thrown into the creek. Mr. Baldwin succeeded in getting him on deck, and sent him below for safety. Meanwhile, as it was momentarily becoming more and more evident that the attacking party was the stronger, the only chance of safety which seemed to remain, was to obtain an interview with the mandarin in command. Accordingly Mr. Baldwin called a truce and requested to be taken to the officer's boat. He got on board a second boat full of soldiers, where he was searched, and then carried to what seemed to be a gunboat, anchored a little way off. This was boarded, and the men immediately commenced to break open boxes, and seize every article of value in the cabins. The steamer Moyune happening to pass down at the time, Mr. Baldwin begged to be put on board her, but was refused, his captors still retaining him as a prisoner. The men who had, in the first instance, attacked his boat now came on board the junk in which he was, and joined in the pillage. No blows, however were struck. Most of the soldiers now disappeared, having managed to get on shore and disperse in different directions. Mr. Baldwin was at length permitted to return to his own boat, where he was agreeably surprised to find his companion, Mr. Smith, unhurt. One Canton man was missing, and as it was impossible to trace him or discover his fate, the boat's head was turned, and all haste made back to Chinkiang. Mr. Baldwin was so severely hurt, that he was obliged to lay himself up, and, although not dangerously injured, is still in a serious condition. As soon as the boat returned to Chinkiang, and the matter was officially reported to Mr. Davenport, H. B. M. Vice-Consul (acting in Mr. Adkins' absence), enquiries were set on foot, and, on the afternoon of Saturday, the 19th instant, the gunboat was captured, and handed over to the Taotai, together with her crew and papers. This boat was in charge of the the Tan-to station (about five miles from Chin-kiang) which of course, at once accounted for the men not taking Mr. Baldwin before their officer. The breech-loader mentioned above was found on board, and fully sufficed to indentify the guilty parties. We should mention that the Cantonman who was believed to have been killed, had thrown himself overboard and swam ashore. He made the best of his way to Chinkiang, where he raised a tremendous commotion by reporting the massacre of an unlimited number of foreigners. So great an excitement did this cause, that before Messrs. Baldwin and Smith got back, Mr. Davenport had started on horseback for Tan-to to discover the truth, and render assistance, while the foreign residents had obtained one of the revenue cruisers, and were on their way down when they met the party returning.

It was most fortunate that Mr. Baldwin did not fire while his gun was in the hand of the man who seized it. Had he done so, the indiscriminate massacre of the Europeans and of the boat's crew would have inevitably resulted, and a well-supported story could have been got up, which would effectually have prevented the slightest chance of redress at the hands of the native authorities. As it is, we trust that Mr. Adkins will press the matter, and secure, not only compensation for Mr. Baldwin, but the punishment of all the responsible men who were concerned in the attack.

From Our London Correspondent

LONDON, 10th September, 1864.

The utter stagnation of all things political and social is never more keenly felt than by those whose business and pleasure it is to complete articles for the newspapers, and more especially by such as your correspondent who is obliged to select topics that will interest or amuse his readers some ten thousand miles away—for tho' there are of course events occuring here every day, yet they are principally of local interest, and by the time the information of them reaches you, they are buried in oblivion here—of such however one cannot call the sad and fatal explosion that took place at Erith, on the Thames, on the morning of the 2nd Inst. when some hundred thousand pounds of Gunpowder exploded with some loss of life and great damage to property. It is quite impossible to assign any cause for this sad event; it was at first supposed that it originated by one of the bargeman smoking in the Barge at the pier near to the magazin, but at the inquest recently held, nothing was elecited that could in any way throw a light on the matter. I will refer you to the journals for full accounts of this melancholy affair, merely saying that I could plainly feel the shock, tho' residing at a distance of nearly twenty five miles from the locality of the explosion. The Insurance offices have, with only a few exceptions, repudiated their liability, the loss falls therefore heavily on the Insurers.

The news from America received lately has been been in favour of the Federals. General Sheridan having achieved some of the greatest feats of the War. He has attacked General Early and after a series of contests beat him out of Winchester and then pursuing the retreating enemy found him at Fisher's Hill very strongly posted.

But the Federal general appears to have been equal to the occasion, sent General Crook to turn the left flank of the Confederates, and attacking himself, General Early in front gained a decided victory. The Shenandoah valley has been won by the Federals. The South is said to have lost eight generals and the slaughter though variously represented has been powerful. The dates received up to yesterday are to the 1st Inst. and the news is still favourable to the North. At new York great fluctuations in the price of Gold had taken place from the 27th of Sept. to the 1st Octr. ranging from 186 to 204 and then down again to 186½ which was the last quotation. The election for President still remains doubtful. Lincoln, McLellan, being in sporting parlance, the two favourites and for the former a mass-meeting had been held in New York to favour his election. I forgot to mention one piece of intelligence favourable to the Southern cause—namely, Price having entered Missouri with 30,000 men and having captured Potosi, Missouri, and also cut off the communication with the Federal army at Pilot knob—12,000 militia are under arms in Missouri. But as I have said before the news received from America during the past fortnight is well calculated to gladden the hearts of the Northerners, and the Richmond Government stands in need of great courage to bear up against the reverses it has suffered lately. The Prince and Princess of Wales have been well received in Sweden and all the journals are full of accounts of their doings at Stockholm. What their intentions are after leaving Scandinavia I have no means of knowing, but it is rumoured they they then go to Paris on a visit to the Emperor of the French. By the way, there is a paragraph in most of the papers respecting the conduct of the Empress Eugenie, who left Paris to avoid meeting Prince Humbert, the heir to the throne of Italy, and who is a great priest-hater. The very day after His Highness left Paris, Her Imperial Highness returned to her court. This seems rude, but with our friends across the water, the church is everything and why should not an Empress have a pet monk or rather pet priests on the same principle that Mrs. Smith or Mrs. Brown have pet lap dogs or pet canaries. That she who once was called the "loveliest woman in Europe" is priest-ridden every body knows but I do not fancy that either her absence or presence at the French Court would cause much change in Prince Humbert's policy so to speak, or would cause him to lose his appetite for macaroni.

I do not know if thing pugilistic are of any interest to any of your readers; but I merely allude to them this time to shew you how several people have been bamboozled by the great international fight, which did not come off between Mace and Coburn for £1000 a side.

It was agreed that the fight was to take place in Ireland, and with that intention, nearly all the blackguards of the Prize Ring proceeded to Dublin to take part in this noble encounter. Disputes as to the selection of a Referred caused the first delay, and the seconds of the two men could not come to terms, each man having a friend of his own he wanted to choose. Words ran high and it has now ended in the fact that Mace has returned to London without any fight having taken place. Both men claim the stakes, which is of course natural to men of their class. It is now stated that a fight never was intended and that the whole thing was a sell from beginning to end. A mock pastoral letter purporting to be signed by the Catholic arch-bishop of Dublin. Dr. Cullen has been issued, threatening excommunication to all who in any way assisted at the fight! His squib was the production of one of the Irish ring and has caused great amusement. Most of the papers inserted it as a genuine document; and are naturally slow to acknowledge their error. We have been having a slight commercial panic lately, several firms have been compelled to suspend payment, some caused by reckless trading, others by the low price of all kinds of produce. The following is a list of the firms alluded to above with their liabilities.

Walker Cotesworth & Co. of Liverpool £600,000
W. T. Brown & Co. do. £500,000. John Fletcher & Co. Manchester £150,000. John Gladstone & Co. of London £200,000.

These are some of the principal failures, tho' there are others of smaller amounts. It is fully expected that the Directors of the Bank of England will to day raise their rate of Discount to 10 per cent. If such be the case numerous other failures must follow great depression is felt in all kinds of Stock, and fears are pretty generally entertained that things will be worse in the City, before they can be better.

Several murders have taken place during the past fortnight, one in particular at Windsor where a wretched man after murdering his wife, slaughtered four of his children and then to wind up the horrid drama committed suicide.

Muller is to be tried for the murder of Mr. Bugg's on the 24th inst—he will be tried by a jury composed of half English and half foreigners, which will nullify of course any personal feeling that might be winced from his being a foreigner. He still persists in his innocence, tho' what effect this protestation may have on the minds of the jury it is impossible to say.

The evidence against him is certainly very strong, but I have great doubts still of its being brought home to him.

During the past fortnight, and old China merchant has passed away I mean Mr. Richard Gibbs, who died a few days back at his residence at Tooting at the age of 75. He will I suppose have a very large fortune behind him.

Mr. William Tait, of Tait's magazine is also dead.

ALIQUIS.

ACCIDENTS AND OFFENCES.

BURGLARY:—On the morning of Tuesday last the godowns of Messrs Margerson & Co. were entered by thieves who effected an entrance by the door, having first wrenched off the Chubb's padlock by which it was secured; they carried off 8 bales of Long Ells. The watchmen were taken up the following morning on suspicion of being implicated, but no evidence was forthcoming to convict them.

ROBBERY.—A fireman of the steamer Viscount Canning while asleep with another in a sampan was attacked by seven armed men who entered the boat and having wounded him, robbed him of a ring and nine dollars, and escaped. One of the vagabonds is known by the name of Foo Atam.

PIRACY.—H. M. Gun-boat Haughty has brought in three Chinese prisoners who were taken on board the Junk which attacked a cargo boat on her passage from Victoria to Stanley one morning last week.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—Thieves attempted to break into the "Oriental Hotel" about half past one o'clock yesterday morning, but were disturbed in the Verandah by the Watchman who raised an alarm; they having dealt the watchman a severe blow on the forehead with a sword, made good their escape by the opposite hill before the police arrived on the scene.

HOUSE ROBBERY.—On Sunday morning between eleven and half past 12 o'clock while the family were at Church, Mr. Storey of Wyndham Street was robbed by a servant who absconded with a quantity of property consisting of jewellery and six $5 notes, the whole valued at $300. Mr. Storey offers a reward of $50 for the apprehension of the thief, and recovery of the property.

Desperate attack on a Lady.

On Sunday evening after 8 o'clock, as Miss. Eaton, the lady superintendent of the Diocesan Female Training school, was proceeding home from Chapel in her chair, about midway between the tank on the Caine Road and her home, on the sound of a whistle, a gang of ruffians sprang from the hill side and attacking the bearers, endeavoured to turn the chair over. Some of the wretches, who were all armed with knives having overpowered the chair coolies, dragged the unfortunate lady into the road and endeavoured to get possession of her watch. She however struggled violently and shrieked loudly for help. For several minutes she fought with her assailants, and as they were dragging her up the hill, she with a determined effort, managed to free herself, and escaped to her home. No assistance whatever arrived notwithstanding her repeated cries for help.

NOTICE OF REDUCTION OF PASSAGE MONEY.

IN the year 1857 the Directors made a considerable reduction in the Company's rates of Passage Money, which continued in force till 1861.

In that year, owing to the extraordinary rise in the Cost and Freight of Coals, and the enhanced price of all descriptions of Naval Stores, the Directors were reluctantly compelled to return to the rates of Passage Money previously in force. They are now happy to state that a decrease in the price of Coal and other expenses of Steam Navigation enables them, to reduce the Company's Passage rates to the undernoted scale, which will take effect from and after the 1st June next, viz:—

From Hongkong to:—

Suez,	$460
Malta,	510
Marseilles,	530
Gibraltar,	530
Southampton,	550
Reserved Rates for Single Persons.
Suez,	$820
Malta,	1,020
Marseilles,	1,060
Gibraltar,	1,060
Southampton,	1,100
Reserved Rates for Married Couples.
Suez,	$1,160
Malta,	1,260
Gibraltar,	1,348
Marseilles,	1,348
Southampton,	1,388

The charges for Children are in proportion to the above.

The above rates are exclusive of the amount payable to the Egyptian Transit Administration for conveyance of Passengers through Egypt, viz:—
For First-class Passengers, $32
Children above three and under ten years, half-fare.

EXTRACT.

From the Spectator of the 8th October.

News of the Week.

A little before seven in the morning of Saturday last a tremendous explosion startled London. Two powder-barges unloading before Messrs. Halls, magazines between Wollwich and Erith, and two of the magazines themselves' the whole containing some 110,000 lbs. of powder, had blown up simultaneously with a shock said to have been felt fifty miles off. It was certainly felt at Great Bardfield in Essex, more than thirty miles away, for it roused one household, shook all the windows, and threw a labourer, by his own account given before he knew of the accident, off his feet. Frightful reports of the damage done were instantly circulated, but the reality was bad enough. Nine persons in the barges and magazines had been killed and as many seriously injured, the embankment which protects the marshes from the river had been destroyed, and the windows in Erith were almost without exception blown in, sashes and all. The most pressing danger was the state of the embankment, but this was happily restored by a body of Engineers despatched from Woolwich, who stopped the breach with bags of clay and lumps passed from hand to hand. The necessary inquest was of course held, but as all the persons immediately concerned had been killed the cause of the catastrophe will never be discovered.

The Pope, who at first seemed to acquiesce in the withdrawal of the French, has now ordered special prayers and daily processions, and Cardinal Antonelli, writing to the Nuncio at Paris on the Convention, is said to have informed him that the "Pope can at any moment replace the French by a garrison sent by another Power," and if his right to do so be contested he "will be compelled to assume the attitude which his duty as a sovereign will necessitate," whatever that may be. It is quite understood that no other Power will be permitted to send troops, and that the Pope must either raise an army of his own sufficient to preserve him from the attacks of his people, or fly. The Constitutionnel, however, affirms that the Papal Government will make one great effort to bribe the Romans by abolishing all taxes and living exclusively on the contributions of the Catholic Powers. It is calculated that Rome, without customs duties or taxes will attract manufacturers and strangers till the Romans will be unwilling to attack their own prosperity. The French journalist forgets that free trade implies free literature, that manufactures bring operatives very dangerous to a priestly government, and that wealth seeks places where activity exists as well as security.

It appears not unlikely that the assertors of the principle of absolute State sovereignty will be caught in their own trap. In Richmond there is much uneasy debate about the action of Georgia. General Sherman, it is said, has proposed a conference with the Confederate Vice-President A. H. Stephens and the Governor of the State, Governor Brown. The Richmond Dispatch of 30th September writes a strong article against the principle of what we may call separate State re-secession to the Union,—an exercise of State sovereignty unfortunately quite within the rights hitherto always asserted by the South, but now becoming exceedingly inconvenient. "Separate State action says the Dispatch, "has been advocated of late in more quarters than one." "Are the people" it goes on, "not the politicians, prepared for this step [re-cession]? We cannot and will not believe it of the gallant State of Georgia." The politicians, and not the people, led Georgia into secession, and now the Confederate leaders are hoping that the people, even when deserted by the politicians, may hold firm. The hope is scarcely warranted, we think, but at all events it is significant.

The "Revenue Returns" are on the whole favourable. They are for the half year in all 33,088,689*l*., or some two or three hundred thousand pounds less than the half of the Chancellor's estimate. But then the income-tax is, as it always is in the first half-year plainly in arrear,—having yielded 782,000*l*. in the last quarter when it ought to have yielded near 2,000,000*l*., and the "miscellaneous" revenue is also, as it usually is early in the financial year, also in arrear,—nor do there seem to be any receipts on account of Chinese and Japanese indemnity. The Customs as usual have recovered more than Mr. Gladstone gave them credit for when he altered the sugar duties, and on the whole from the present look of the revenue accounts we should expect a considerable surplus next April.

An odd case was heard at the Mansion House on Wednesday. Mr. Benett, a China merchant, it appears employed Mr. Marshall, commission agent of Bond Street, to buy some guns from Captain Blakely. There was a dispute about the commission, and Mr. Benett, as alleged, offered to bet Mr. Marshall 1,000*l*. that if the case went to a jury he would not get more than 300*l*. The case went, the jury gave 475*l*., and Mr. Marshall applied for the bet. Mr. Benett replied that he had only made an offer which had not been accepted, and Mr. Marshall threatened to publish the transaction, whereupon Mr. Benett had him arrested on a charge of endeavouring to extort money by threats. In the witness-box Mr. Benett swore that he had made no such bet, and the Lord Mayor decided that the case coming within the Act it must go for trial. Do City men usually trust to memory only for bets of 1,000*l*.?

The German papers are full of stories about the mission of Lord Clarendon, and a new rumour has been put in circulation scarcely more credible than those of last week. It is said that the Austrian Cabinet, feeling that the present condition of armed neutrality is dangerous to their finances, but unable to recognize the Italian Government, have requested Lord Clarendon to hint at Turin that they would be open to an arrangement beneficial to both countries. We need scarcely say the Austrian Government has means of communicating its views to Victor Emanuel without asking Lord Clarendon to be its messenger.

The Moscow Gazette, an official journal, denies peremptorily that Russia has entered into any engagements with Europe as regards Poland. Russia "will not consider herself bound by any engagement or promise previously given." The greater part of the Treaties of Vienna have disappeared through the natural course of events, and "why should Russia be obliged to observe to her own prejudice and the misfortune of Poland those stipulations which are least fit to be executed?" That is clear speaking for a "Conservative Power" and Europe may, it seems certain, make up its mind that the regime of treaties is over and that of force has begun. Well England, France, Italy and the nationalities are at least as powerful as the three great despotisms, and if the struggle is to come, the easiest policy will be to make it such that Europe shall never require another.

The despatch addressed by the French Government to its Ambassador at Rome on the 12th September has been published in the Moniteur. It has evidently been written by the Emperor, though signed by M. Drouyn de Lhuys, and is curiously frank in tone. It states that the occupation of Rome by France was always intended to be temporary, that it placed two sovereignties face to face on the same ground, that though the Generals have been frequently changed the same conflicts of jurisdiction have always recurred, that "the ideas of the Holy See are unhandily in opposition to the ideas of the age," that the Italian Government has exerted itself to do away with the association which threatened Rome, that the change of capital from Turin constitutes a new situation, and that France having obtained guarantees from Italy "against attack on the Holy See from without," is enabled as soon as the Pope has formed an army to withdraw its troops. The Holy See is to be relieved "by combinations" from part of its debt—four-fifths. No date is fixed for withdrawing the troops, but it seems to be understood that the two years mentioned in the convention with Italy is the maximum period.

Professor Tyndall, the great glacier theorist, sends to the Times a very remarkable account of an adventure in July in Ober Engadin. He himself, with two friends and two guides, all tied together, ventured on a slope of bare ice, the foremost guide, Jenni, cutting steps in it in which all following him were to tread. One false step set an avalanche above them in motion, and on it all five were whirled away together, bounding over crevasses and helpless to save themselves. At a slight pause Jenni threw himself into a crevasse purposely, in hopes of thus stopping the motion of the procession; but he was only nearly squeezed to death by the strain on the rope for his pains, and wrenched out of it by the motion of the avalanche. At length, just before they came to some terrible chasms, Jenni was able to stop the motion of the party, and none were severely hurt. Professor Tyndall lost his watch, but recovered it some three weeks afterwards by a search at the same place, "the slight absorbent power of the gold for the solar rays" preventing it from sinking in the snow as a stone sinks. Professor Tyndall wound up the watch, and "the little creature" resumed work quite blissfully, after eighteen days in the snow.
